

Charles Bentler

LONG ISLAND, NY

Charles Bentler is an associate in the firm's Long Island, NY office. His diverse practice encompasses litigation and arbitration at the pretrial, trial, and appellate stages across New York in myriad practice areas, including complex general liability; construction accidents (New York Labor Law sec. 240 and 241[6]); premises liability; product defect; contract disputes; business torts; and commercial litigation.

He regularly engages in all aspects of the defense of high exposure matters from inception through trial, including expert retention and consultation, discovery, conducting and defending depositions, motion practice, mediation, and trial preparation. Mr. Bentler also has experience handling litigation under the Racketeer Influenced and Corrupt Organizations Act ("RICO").

Prior to law school, Mr. Bentler worked as a client servicing associate in the financial services industry, where he created tailored financial plans and implemented investment solutions to help clients achieve long-term security. This experience provided him with a valuable perspective on the intersection of risk, business operations, and financial planning—insight he now applies in representing clients facing complex legal challenges.

Mr. Bentler is admitted to practice in the State of New York.

Mr. Bentler received his B.S. in Political Science & Philosophy from Stony Brook University in 2017 and his J.D. from the Appalachian School of Law in 2023.
